HARMONY IN GOOD FAITH.

The Way to Reclaim Kansas to True Republicanism.

All sincere Republicans with the party to be successful in the election next year. All of us are ready to admit that it will require harmony, and a large quantity of it, to secure success. If this spirit of proscription is to be the rule in the party, by either prohibitionists or anti-prohibitionists, then the party goes to pot by the canon ball. There seems to be a disposition to indulge in the folly of proscription on the part of a few from both sides of the prohibition question. The real fact is that no man can be read out of the party, or proscribed from receiving its honors simply because he happens to favor or oppose prohibition with the courage of his convictions. The right of the majority to govern is the first cardinal rule of Republicanism, and it has always been considered as applicable to party as to government. It is not a matter as far as the choice of servants goes. Now to say that a man shall not be nominated for governor because he believes in prohibition, or in any other matter of local policy, is to say that Republicanism is swallowed up in a side issue. True Republicanism is too broad to rest its action upon any particular principle of intolerance.

We are led to these reflections by an article from the pen of that old war horse, Mr. Miller, declaring that Judge Thatcher must not be the Republican nominee for governor because he is a prohibitionist, and because he favors doing away with juries in petty misdemeanor trials before justices. We enter our protest against such narrow Republicanism, and demand a broader party spirit by which to unite all Republicans in all-Union harmony for the grand battle of 1884.

There can be no party harmony, no party enthusiasm, no party success, while the spirit of proscription and intolerance prevails. We should demand for our nominees that they be Republicans, and that they have high character as citizens, that they have large capacity for public affairs, that they have integrity as men, that their public and private records be such as to leave no right to demand—must not demand—that they stand upon this or that side of the prohibition issue.

This is the spirit of many party harmony, and animated by it we can reclaim Kansas to true Republicanism. By any other, we injuriously fail.

N. V. BLATHERSHEIM BENNETT.

That really late, the Kansas prohibitionist, seems to have had its wormy bowels heaved up by our article on its editor. It denounces us as a "whiskey hummer and defender of criminals," a "wife beater and purveyor of gutter snuff."

Temperance language to come from a paper whose mission is the inculcation of morality; whose literature for the homes and firesides of pure women and innocent children; a sane answer from a soul bowed down in sorrow over the victims of man.

If Van Bennett imagines that anybody will believe his charges against the editor of the Eagle, he is as devoid of brains as he is of truth.

A GENEROUS SCHEME.

Mr. Miller, in his Chief, advocates the pensioning of all soldiers, granting the pension according to disability and length of service. It is a noble scheme, and the Eagle proclaims that this pension bill would solve one of the most serious problems ever encountered by our government. We don't know where all the millions and billions of money necessary would come from to meet the demands of Miller's scheme, but we do feel the policy within the reach of our resources as a Nation. There is little doubt in our mind that fully one-fourth of all the pensions now drawn are for soldiers who have no right to them. The pensioning of all soldiers would be a great benefit to the Nation, and the church generally have raised themselves against the great reforms of civilization until they became popular. He makes an especially arraigning of the late archbishop of Canterbury for bringing the power of the church to the aid of the Egyptian war.

THIS IS SO?

That was a novel idea, but a very practical one, the sending of a commission from Japan to examine and report given to the emperor of Christianity upon morals in England. After eighteen months of London life, according to a journal in that city, the commission decided that Christianity had less restraint over crime, and especially drunkenness, than Buddhism or the religion of Shinto, and the religion of Japan will remain unchanged.

DECIDED TO BE VALID.

The two decisions on the Illinois railroad law, rendered by the United States Supreme Court last week, would appear to dissipate all remaining doubt of the authority of a state to regulate railroad charges. A number of cases involving different aspects of western railroad laws have been carried up to the Supreme Court in the last few years, and the decisions on them are all in one direction—the validity of the legislation. The Illinois law provides that the maximum rate of passenger fares on the railroads shall be three cents a mile. Under this provision two cases arose—one on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy road, and the other on the Illinois Central road. In each case, disputing the constitutionality of the law on the ground that it impaired the obligation of contracts by regulating rates which, under its charter, the road itself was empowered to regulate. The Court took the opposite view. While admitting that the charter gave the companies the right to establish such rates of fare as they shall from time to time by their by-laws determine, it holds that this grant is to be strictly construed, and that grants of immunity from legislative control are never to be presumed; if they are not plainly expressed they do not exist; presumption is against them—that is, in favor of the authority of the state to regulate in the public interest may be made. The decision, applicable in both cases, seems to exhaust the question and leaves no room for further dispute.

THE ATLANTIC & PACIFIC.

On the 17th inst., at Boston, the annual meeting of the stockholders of the Atlantic & Pacific was held. From the officers and directors elected, there was a change to be made in the management of the road.

The following board of directors were elected—W. B. Strong, B. P. Cheney, A. E. Toulson, Thos. Nickerson, A. W. Nickerson, Levi G. Wade, H. C. Nutt at Boston; E. P. Winslow, Jay Gould, C. P. Huntington, Jesse Seligman, J. D. Fish, W. T. Buckley at New York. At a subsequent meeting of the directors the following officers were chosen: President, H. C. Nutt, vice president E. P. Winslow of New York; secretary and treasurer C. S. Tuckerman of Boston; auditor D. L. Gallup of Boston.

RAILROADS IN KANSAS.

The State board of railroad assessors have completed their work. There are 3,679 miles of railway in the State. Last year the aggregate was 3,600, showing an increase of 79 miles. The railway property is valued at $77,250,000; last year it was valued at $75,000,000. Increase in valuation, $2,250,000. The Atchison union depot is assessed at $28,300; last year it was $28,300. The Central branch road and its branches include 309.3 miles, and are valued at $4,462,000. The Missouri Pacific extension has 63.5 miles in Kansas, valued at $2,000,000.

As the railroads are assessed at only about one-half their real value, the railroad property of Kansas is worth fully fifty million dollars more.

TO OLD SOLDIERS: GREETING.

Before another issue of the EAGLE, the loyal brave and true, all over this broad land, will gather about the last resting place of comrades who yielded up the lives on the open field of strife, or within the gloomy hospital, or darker prison, or who, having withstood the dangers and combats of the field, afterwards passed to the beyond from homes of peace and the arms of loved ones. Decoration day will long be observed, but to those who participated in the scenes of twenty years ago the day will be most full of meaning, most tender of memories. Of these memories, the songs of the day, the flowers, the wreaths, the torches, all else become a part of history. Many of these old songs we print on our first page, adding here and there a new one.

THE ARMY REGIMENT.
There's a spot that the soldiers all love,
The men-tent's place that we mean,
And the dish that we like to see there,
Is the old-fashioned white Army Bean.

CHORUS.
'Tis the bean that we mean,
And we'll eat as we've eaten before;
The Army Bean, nice and clean,
We'll stick to it when we're evermore.

Now the bean in its primitive state,
Is a plant we have all often met;
And when cooked in the old army style,
It has charms we can never forget.

The German is fond of our bean,
The potato is loved by the Mick,
But the soldiers have long since found out
That their life on our beans should stick.

REFRAIN.
Beans for breakfast,
Beans for dinner,
Beans for supper,
Beans, beans, beans.

GOULD'S TARIFF VIEWS.

In an interview with a reporter of the New York World the other day, Jay Gould expressed himself on the tariff question as follows:

Because free trade is another name for the reduction of the price of labor to the corresponding price in England. But for difference in the cost of labor between England and the United States, we could produce as cheaply as they do, and we would not be able to compete with them. Remove protection, and you destroy our manufactures. If the Democratic party attempts to level down the tariff, it is the same as saying that they will destroy our industries. Free trade must have been possible before the war, but now the country is in a very different condition. It is a great manufacturing country, and growing as such rapidly, not only in the East but in the West. Wherever I have been on my recent trip to Chicago, St. Louis, and elsewhere, I have seen great manufacturing industries, scattered all over the country. In Illinois, Ohio, and Iowa you will find new factories and mills rapidly growing up. In Des Moines, the other day, I found a new factory building its products all over the country and into Mexico. In fact they are created by protection, and fostered by it. A reactionary policy would mean their destruction. The old tariff takes free trade to a point where the labor and the farmer is a slave to the tariff, for it is also giving him a market for his agricultural products. Any political party that would destroy protection to our industries would ruin itself and the country.

DEcoration Day.

OMAHA, Neb., April 14, 1883.

In compliance with the rules and regulations of the Grand Army of the Republic, the annual observance of the day of the Republic, Wednesday, May 30th, will be observed as Memorial Day.

The National Encampment adopted a resolution at its session at Baltimore, declaring that this day should be called Memorial and not Decoration Day.

I hereby command Posts of the Grand Army of the Republic to attend and services in uniform. In cities and villages where it will be practicable I recommend union services.

No Charge for Casualties.
If you are suffering from any chronic disease about which you are growing discouraged, such as pulmonary trouble, catarrh, rheumatism, neuralgia, rheumatism, nervous prostration, etc., send a statement of your condition to Dr. Starker & Paine, 1109 Girard street, Philadelphia, and get their opinion as to the value of Compound Syngen in your case. It will cost you nothing. Ask them, at the same time, to furnish you with such evidence in regard to their treatment and such evidence in regard to their professional standing as will enable you to clearly apprehend the nature and action of the treatment and give you confidence in them personally.

Bridge Notice.
Notice is hereby given that at the regular session of the Board of County Commissioners of Sedgewick county, Kansas, to be held on the first Monday in July, 1883, there will be a petition presented asking for an appropriation to be made for the purpose of building a bridge across the Arkansas river east of Sumner P. M. S. Smith and 10 others.
